

Andrew Clausen

andrew.clausen@ed.ac.uk
<https://andrewclausen.net>

Lecturer
School of Economics
University of Edinburgh
30 Buccleuch Place
Edinburgh, EH8 9JS
+44-131-6-515131

Personal

Australian, born in 1981, speak English (native) and Brazilian Portuguese

Education

BCS Honours, University of Melbourne (Computer Science), 2003
PhD, University of Pennsylvania (Economics), 2012

Publications and Working Papers

“Money Cycles” (with Carlo Strub), International Economic Review, 2016.

“Moral Hazard with Counterfeit Signals”

“A General and Intuitive Envelope Theorem” (with Carlo Strub)

“Corrigendum to ‘Aggregation and Linearity in the Provision of Intertemporal Incentives’ ”

“Extreme Incentives”

Other Publications

“Human Sources: The Journalist and the Whistle-blower in the Digital Era” (with Suelette Dreyfus, Reeva Lederman, A.J. Brown, Simon Milton, Marcia P. Miceli, Rachele Bosua, and Jessie Schanzle), in Journalism Research and Investigation in a Digital World, 2013

“The Cost of Attack of PageRank”, in Proceedings of The International Conference on Agents, Web Technologies and Internet Commerce, 2004

Referee Activities

American Economic Journal: Microeconomics, Association of Computing Machinery Conference on Electronic Commerce, Games and Economic Behavior, International Economic Review, International Journal of Industrial Organization, Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization, Journal of Economic Theory, Macroeconomic Dynamics, Review of Economic Studies

Honours

Swiss Society of Economics and Statistics, Young Economist Award, 2011

Teaching

Undergraduate: Advanced Mathematical Economics, Political Economy

Postgraduate: Microeconomics 1 (general equilibrium theory)